

Blizzard opens another round of free character transfers

Another round of character transfers will be made available to World of Warcraft players. According to the announcement made by Blizzard poster wow gold Drysc on the WoW Forums, this run of free character moves will start December 21 and end December 28 (12:01 PM PST). Check out this round's source group and destination pearl jewelry realm: Source Group Arthas Warsong Mal'Ganis Illidan Destination Realm Azshara The usual rules apply: once the realms reach the goal population, everquest 2 power leveling character transfers wow powerleveling will be disabled. Drysc added how they chose which realms to open transfers for, perhaps to preempt the usual questions from players: The realms chosen consist of source realms with the highest sustained queues, everquest 2 power leveling and destination realms with the lowest population. The numbers gathered are directly from our data, and depict the realms in most need of these transfers. We will be continuing to monitor all realms and open additional free transfers in the wow power leveling future wow power leveling where necessary.
